Thursday, April 6th

to

Monday, April 10th

Homer, Alaska

This workshop will offer the exploration of a multitude of experiential techniques based on the theory and techniques of group psychotherapy, psychodrama, psychomotor, and sociometry. Sociometry maps the threads of human connections while psychodrama places issues of all kinds on the stage, making them explicit and concrete through dramatic action. These processes are “gold standards” for the treatment of complex PTSD and for the work of personal growth. The work of the group, with the direction of Kaya and Georgia, is to provide a safe space for the celebration of all human emotions from deep sadness to ecstatic joy.

Primary Goals Include:

- Learning the roles and processes of psychodrama, and the use of psychodrama in exploring personal issues, group processes, and interpersonal and intrapersonal encounter;
- Understanding the theory and process of psychomotor therapy, with introduction to the psychomotor approach for healing generational trauma;
- Understanding sociometry, and its application in the context of the therapeutic group, work situations and everyday life;
- Review of ethics in therapeutic action work with emphasis on therapeutic rationale.
